Kaia Tetlie
Chair, UWC Norway
UWCAC 03-05

We are now entering the third decade of the 2000s and much has happened - both in the world and in the UWC movement. When I started UWC Atlantic College in 2003, the war in Iraq had just begun and many UWC students had participated in protests against the war. Four years later I started studying political science and learned that the world was moving in a democratic direction.

Since then, much seems to have gone wrong. Russia has occupied the Crimean peninsula and been sanctioned by several countries. The UK is about to withdraw from the joint European project, and there is great uncertainty about US foreign policy. At the same time, the world is burning. Temperatures are increasing and emissions are not reduced quickly enough.

In the middle of this, Greta Thunberg, a Swedish 16-year-old, is named «Person of the Year» by Time Magazine. This is both an example of how much one person can achieve and, not least, what an engaged youth can achieve.

This is especially important for the UWC movement. Because - why are we sending youth out into the world to get a two-year education at a UWC school? It is because we believe in the value of diversity and the potential of young people. Two years at UWC is as far away from high school in Norway as you can get. At UWC, the world enters your bedroom, for better and for worse. You develop both academically and as an individual, and you learn empathy in direct encounters with people. And for the rest of your life, you will wonder if you know anyone in the area when something happens in the world.

As Malala, another inspiring 16-year-old, once said: «One child, one teacher, one book, one pen can change the world.»

The UWC movement now consists of 18 schools in total, with the last one opening in Tanzania in 2019. UWC Norway has 80 students at UWC schools at all times, and we are impressed and proud of both our students and alumni and all they manage to achieve, and we are looking forward to following them in their life paths!

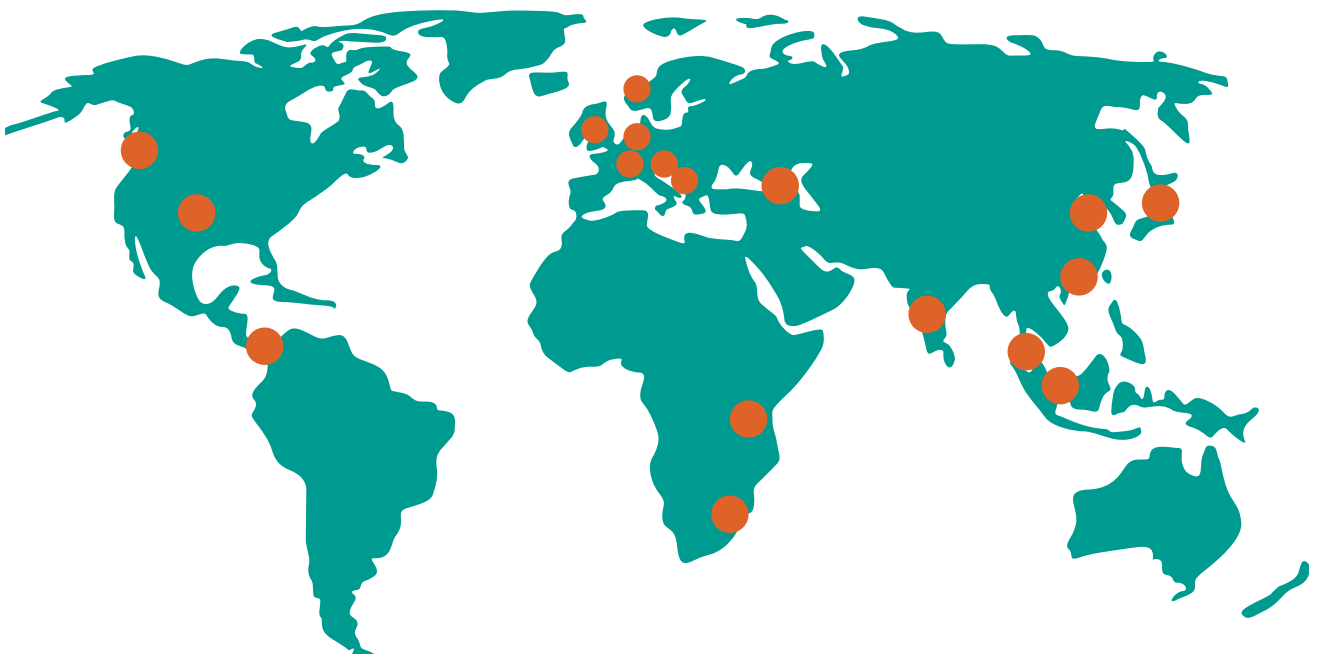

About UWC Norway

Founded in 1962, United World Colleges (UWC) offers a challenging and transformative educational experience to a diverse cross section of students, inspiring them to create a more peaceful and sustainable future. There are currently 18 colleges around the world, out of which one is in Norway: UWC Red Cross Nordic is located in Fjaler in the county Vestland.

UWC Norway is one of over 160 UWC National Committees across the globe that make up a network of over 3 000 volunteers. The National Committees promote UWC, select students and provide a community for alumni. UWC Norway is a member organisation consisting of all former and current UWC students and teachers from Norway, run by volunteers.

UWC Norway cooperates with the Norwegian Agency for International Cooperation and Quality Enhancement in Higher Education (Diku). Diku manages the Norwegian government's financial contribution to UWC Norway, and is a directorate reporting to the Norwegian Ministry of Education and Research.

Governance

The Norwegian National Committee consists of alumni, parents and previous teachers who volunteer to manage and develop the UWC movement. It has over 20 members divided into different groups.

The National Committee is responsible for finances, nomination and follow-up of students, events, marketing and communication, fundraising and international representation.

UWC Norway has regional representatives in Bergen, Bodø, Trondheim and Tromsø. They are responsible for hosting local events for students and alumni, as well as assisting in marketing through hosting information meetings.

UWC Norway has an office in Oslo, where a Director of Administration is employed full time.

The Best Kept Secret no more

Every year 40 Norwegian students are offered a place at a UWC. The Norwegian government is supporting UWC, and provides partial scholarships to all students selected by the National Committee.

The selection of new UWC students is one of the most important tasks for UWC Norway. UWC Norway spreads the word through a variety of channels, and strives to ensure that the applicants represent the diversity in Norwegian society, especially in terms of gender, place of residence, socio-economic status, and ethnic and cultural background.

Social Media is our most important communications channel. Throughout the year the students themselves show us glimpses of their lives at UWC through takeovers on Instagram and Snapchat.

The students report visits to local middle and high schools as the best way to reach out to a broader audience. All of the 80+ Norwegian students are expected to visits at least two schools. In addition, four groups of students from UWC Red Cross Nordic go on road trips to areas with few applicants. This year they visited the northernmost counties of Norway; Troms and Finnmark.

UWC'ers love talking about UWC, and what greater audience than potential applicants and their parents?!

In 2019, we were present at education fairs in Oslo and Bergen, and organised information meetings in Alta, Honningsvåg, Harstad, Tromsø, Oslo and Bergen.

We are also featured in the media on a regular basis.

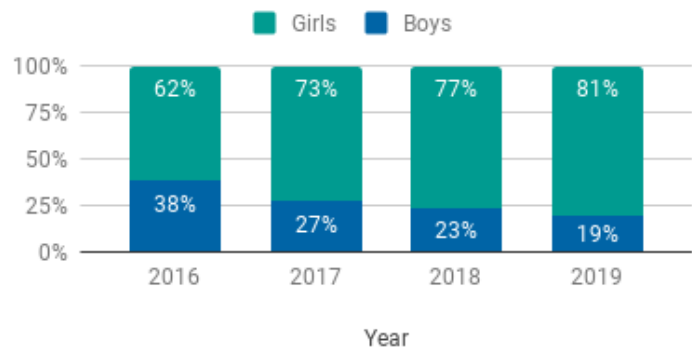

UWC Applicants 2019

The number of Norwegian applicants to UWC has been stable over the last few years. In 2019, 139 Norwegian students applied.

The National Committee aims to increase and diversify the number of applicants. In particular, we aim to increase the number of boys who apply.

Over the last years, the ratio of boys to girls has been around 1-5 to 2-5.

Gender distribution among applicants

Distribution of applicants

UWC Norway aims for applicants from all Norwegian counties. In 2019, there were applicants from all counties.

Selection process

The Norwegian Agency for International Cooperation and Quality Enhancement in Higher Education (Diku) organises the nomination process of Norwegian students in cooperation with UWC Norway. The application deadline was January 25, 2019.

In the following weeks, the nomination committee

read all applicants and invited 70 applicants for interviews in Oslo.

After the interviews, UWC Norway nominated 41 students to 14 UWC schools. After the nominations are finalised it is the schools' prerogative to make the final offer to the students.

Norwegian UWC'ers around the world

UWC Norway's Students

The UWC movement consists of 18 schools on four continents. Normally, UWC Norway sends 40 students a year, all supported by scholarships from the Norwegian government. In 2018 we were offered a Shelby Davis Dare to Dream Scholarship to UWC Thailand and in 2019 we received another scholarship to UWC Dilijan.

Currently, UWC Norway has 81 students spread among 15 schools. We do not currently have students at UWC South East Asia, UWC ISAK Japan or UWC East Africa.

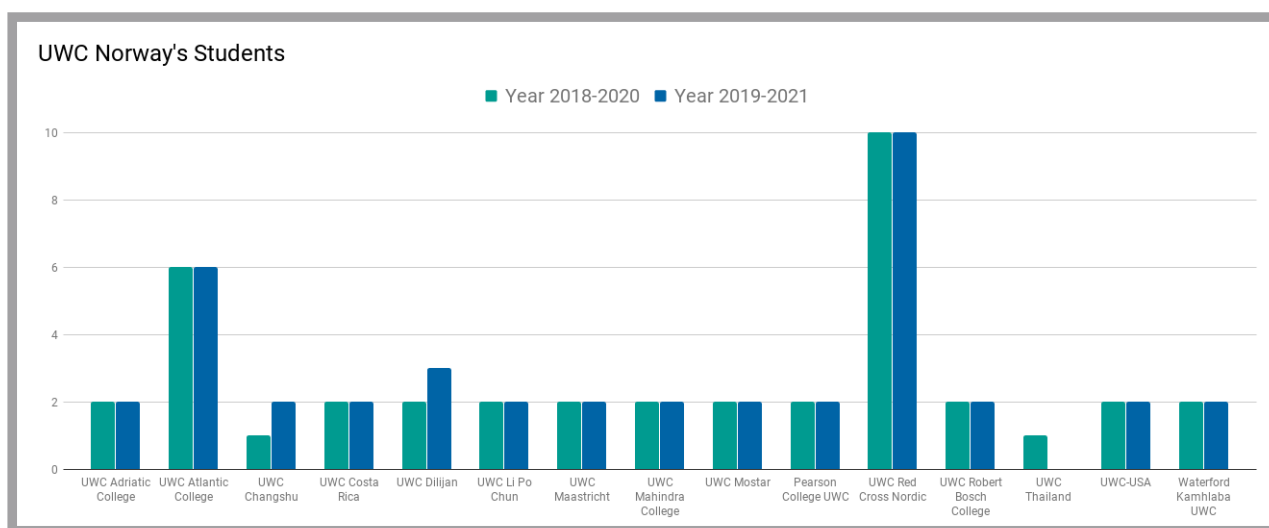

Other Norwegian students

It is also possible to gain entry at a UWC school without applying through the National Committee system.

In 2018, UWC International launched a new programme called the Global Selections Programme (GSP). This programme is especially fitted to those not living in their country of citizenship. Moreover, after selections National Committees can register remaining qualified candidates on an international Clearing List. The schools can then decide to offer places directly to students on the Clearing List. There are other scholarship systems in place for these students, and these are not managed by UWC Norway.

In 2019, Norwegian students on the Clearing List were offered entry at UWC Atlantic College and UWC ISAK Japan.

In addition, UWC Red Cross Nordic yearly selects two local students from the county of Sogn and Fjordane to attend the school.

Supporting the Norwegian UWC students

UWC Norway has two elected Student Contacts that are part of the selection committee.

These two alumni are there to help out with issues or concerns that students or parents have during the two years at UWC.

The Nordic and Baltic National Committees conduct a joint survey among our students every year. If the survey points to any particular issues, the National Committees follow up jointly in dialogue with the school(s) in question.

Being a student at UWC

Excerpts from students' blog posts

Danilo, a student at UWC Costa Rica, observes the effects of the political turmoil in Nicaragua.

«Som elev ved United World College i Costa Rica er det ikke uvanlig å høre om situasjonen i Nicaragua på de lokale nyhetene. Mer enn 20.000 mennesker har flyktet til Costa Rica og strømmen av mennesker kommer nok til å fortsette, mange gående med bare en ryggsekk og noen poser. Folk står i lange køer ved grensen i håp om å få politisk asyl. De som får sin søknad godkjent er lettet, men problemene ender ikke der. Det er sterk fremmedfrykt i Costa Rica. Så sent som i august ble det holdt nasjonalistiske protester for å markere at nicaraguanerne er uvelkomne.

Man skal ikke langt for å finne folk som deler denne følelsen. Selv har jeg møtt på personer i San José som mener at "Los Nicas" tar over Costa Rica. Disse følelsene er sterke i landet. I fjor holdt Costa Rica på å velge en høyrepopulisttil president og folk er allerede ganske oppgitte over den nåværende regjeringen.

På UWC går det elever fra 70 forskjellige land, bl.a. en jente fra Nicaragua. Forrige uke ble flere av hennes familiemedlemmer arrestert og fengslet for å protestere mot Ortega. Det brakte en litt fjern konflikt inn i vår hverdag og vi så alle hvor vanskelig det er for henne.»

Abdur-Raheem shares his first experiences at UWC Dilijan

«Har jeg virkelig bare vært her i 7 uker? På en måte føles det som om jeg har vært her i mange år allerede, og av og til føles det som om jeg nettopp kom. Konseptet tid føles generelt annerledes her på UWC Dilijan i Armenia enn hjemme i Norge. Til og med lærerne har nevnt det.

[...] Her på UWC Dilijan er det også flust av muligheter til å utfordre seg og gjøre noe nytt. Jeg er litt nerd, og en av hobbyene mine er å programmere. Dilijan kan regnes som en utviklingsby, og det er lite interesse for teknologi blant både unge og gamle. Dette ville et lokalt teknologi-kollektiv, kalt "Fab Lab Dilijan" gjøre noe med. De planla å organisere en "Maker Day" på Dilijan sentralskole; en dag hvor lokalbefolkningen kunne delta i diverse kreative og teknologibaserte aktiviteter som 3D printing, trefresing og elektronikk.»

Phoebe shares her excitement 30 days before leaving for UWC

«Så, snart drar vi altså ut i den store verden alle sammen. Jeg gruer meg litt til å flytte så langt unna og måtte vaske klærne mine selv, men jeg gleder meg også utrolig mye! Jeg er veldig spent på å møte de andre ungdommene fra resten av verden, finne ut hvordan rommene ser ut, lære om verden og oppleve ting jeg ikke en gang kan forestille meg nå. Snart sitter jeg på andre siden av jordkloden, diskuterer fred, bærekraft og andre verdensspørsmål med andre engasjerte ungdommer, er med i parader med flagg fra land i hele verden og plukker tropisk frukt på campus i friminuttene.

Det er kun 30 dager igjen.»

Building a Community

UWC Day

UWC Norway celebrates UWC Day by showcasing the knowledge and skills of our alumni.

In Oslo, five alumni made presentations on their topics of expertise, ranging from the political situation in Hong Kong to how consensual gay sex was legalised in India in 2018.

Monthly meet-ups in Oslo

Every six weeks UWC Norway hosts meet-ups at a local bar in Oslo. This is a great opportunity to get a bigger social network in Oslo or just to enjoy good company and great conversations.

Visits to Astrup Fearnley Museet

Former chair of UWC Norway, Bjørn Rønneberg, is the chairman of Astrup Fearnley and has, on two occasions, invited the UWC community on a guided tour of the latest exhibitions.

Christmas Party

One of the long-standing traditions at UWC Norway is the Christmas Party. We invite UWC alumni and friends to a pot luck dinner at the Nordic Association's beautiful headquarters in Oslo.

Bicycling through Nordmarka

Sporty alumni biked through crisp autumn air and beautiful scenery in Nordmarka in September.

New alumni group in Bodø

The Regional Contacts in Bergen, Tromsø and Trondheim arrange regular UWC meet-ups. In 2019 a new Regional Contact in Bodø was established.

Our biggest party yet

Over 250 alumni, students, parents and friends came together for the summer party at the beautiful Abbediengen Hovedgård in Oslo. This is UWC Norway's annual flagship event, where members of the UWC movement in Norway meet, connect and celebrate the class of 2019.

Three parallel sessions

Before the party, UWC Norway arranged three parallel information sessions: a debrief for the graduating class, an information meeting for the parents of class of 2121, and a kick-off for the new students.

When the two years at UWC are over, UWC Norway invites the recent graduates to meet each other once again, and share their experiences with each other and with the National Committee. This is not only a great opportunity to debrief and reconnect, but also to give feedback to UWC Norway and help us support future students.

At the same time a meeting was organised for the parents of the new students. Here, the parents could get their questions answered and listen to the experiences of former students and parents.

A kickoff was arranged for the Norwegian class of 2021, where they could meet, mingle, and get familiar with the UWC movement.

Graduation Ceremony

Later that evening alumni and friends were invited to UWC Norway's flagship event; our annual summer party! The recent graduates were welcomed into the alumni movement through a graduation ceremony where they received diplomas.

We enjoyed delicious food, live music by alumnus Tellef Raabe, and interesting conversations.

Introduction weekend

The party marked the beginning of the UWC experience for the new students. After the party they travelled to the introduction camp, an annual two-day camp where new students learn what's in store for the next two years at UWC. Here, our students learn more about the movement, discuss mental health and academic challenges, have workshops, learn how to communicate the UWC experience, and receive a crash course in potential crosscultural clashes.

International cooperation

UWC is a large international movement, and both colleges and National Committees meet regularly to share experiences, discuss the development of the movement and how to learn from each other, and improve relations.

International Governance Meetings

Elizabeth Sellevold, former Chair of UWC Norway, has from 2016 been one of Europe's representatives in the Committee of National Committees (CNC). She represents the National Committees in the UWC international governance meetings that are held twice a year. This year the meetings were held at UWC Person College and UWC Atlantic College.

Nordic and Baltic Meeting

Every fall representatives from the Nordic and Baltic National Committees meet at UWC Red Cross Nordic to share experiences, learn from each other and strengthen Nordic cooperation.

One of the main topics on the agenda are the results of the annual survey sent out to all Nordic and Baltic students at UWC. This survey measures the students' experience of UWC and is a valuable resource.

School visit at UWC Atlantic College and UWC Mostar

Every year UWC Norway and Diku, our governmental partner, visit one of the schools where we have students. We follow up on the wellbeing of our students and the governance of the school. In October 2019, our Head of Administration Ann Charlott Wardle and senior advisor at Diku Anne Hunderi visited UWC Atlantic College.

Two representatives from the National Committee also visited UWC Mostar this year.

Opening of UWC East Africa

Bjørn Kloumann Bekken represented UWC Norway at the opening of the 18th and latest member of the UWC family; UWC East Africa. We are pleased to welcome a second school on the African continent. Bjørn, who is an alumnus of UWC in eSwatini, actually attended this school as a child, when it was called International School of Moshi.

National news

Changes at the UWC Norway office

The UWC office in Oslo is located at Tøyen in the "House of Volunteering." In 2019, the office moved to a different and more suitable floor, and is located closer to other youth organizations. Mette Risom Olsen started working for UWC Norway in December, and will be working as our Director of Administration until Ann Charlott Wardle returns from maternity leave in September 2020.

UWC at the Parliament

A weak Norwegian currency combined with increasing school fees have put UWC Norway in a difficult economic situation. In 2019 UWC Norway attended a hearing at the Parliament along with UWC Red Cross Nordic. Here they reminded the politicians of the importance of UWC, informed them of the latest addition of UWC East Africa and requested funds for more scholarships.

Meeting fellow organisations

UWC Norway's goal is to work closer with organisations with similar interests. In 2019 we reconnected with ANSA, the Association for Norwegian Students Abroad. We have worked close with ANSA previously. This time we want to combine our forces to negotiate currency adjustment with the State Educational Loan Fund, Norway (Lånekassen). In line with the current policies for university students abroad, we want high school students' scholarships to also have currency adjustment. This will stabilise the financial situation of UWC Norway in times of a weak Norwegian currency.

Appointment of new rector at UWC RCN

In late 2019, UWC Red Cross Nordic announced that they have appointed Hege Myhre as the new Rektor of the college. She is currently the head of Kongsberg International School, and will start her new position in August 2020. Hege is not only the first female to be appointed Rektor at UWC RCN, but is also the first Norwegian.

Evening With Meaning

- Fundraising for Survivors of Conflict

In March 2019, UWC Norway hosted its first benefit dinner together with UWC Red Cross Nordic. This was a chance to hear alumni, current students and key supporters of the UWC movement share their stories.

The aim of the evening was to fundraise for the Survivors of Conflict programme at UWC Red Cross Nordic. This is a unique programme that supports students with physical injuries resulting from war and conflict, who need special facilitation and rehabilitation. The programme aims to give the students the tools they need to acquire further studies and eventually return to their home countries as resourceful and active members of society.

Through generous support we can educate the next generation of leaders from among the most marginalised groups of today's world, who in turn will become role models for the millions of young people aspiring to make a difference.

Since September 2018, Norwegian UWC alumni and friends have contributed with 83 800 NOK. Together with the support of philanthropist Shelby Davis' match fund, we have raised 154 945 NOK.
